AMUSEMENTS. Leubric's Theater. Not withstanding the very inclement weath last night, quite a large audience attended er.last night, quite a large audience attended the Theater to witness the presentation of a realistic American play entitled A Messenger from Jarvis Section, by the B. Macauley combination. The family circle and galleries were crowded, while the parquette and dress circle were fairly filled. The play is a realistic American drama, the scenes being laid in New England and the characters taken from that section of country and from Boston. Mr. Macauley has made the leading role "Uncle Daniel Bartlett, deputy sheriff of Jarvis Section," a specialty, and plays it most naturally and specialty, and plays it most naturally and with a quaint Yankee humor that cannot fail to please and amuse audiences. Mr. Macauley, a good comedian, appears to advantage in the leading role, reminding Memphians somewhat of John E. Owens in bis Yankee roles. He was natural, and made all the points in the character that could possibly be developed. His humor is quaint, and affects the audience beyond the possibility of control, and hence he was greeted with ity of control, and hence he was greeted with laughter and genuine applause, to which he had to respond at the falling of the curtain at the close of each act, and to which he gracefully and kindly responded by appearing before the curtain with "Clip," Minnie Maddern, daughter of the late Thomas W. Davey. Minnie Maddern as "Clip of Keppler," sailors' saloon, was one of the characters of the play. She was a waif, knowing no father o mother, and brought up as a waiter-girl in the satiors' den, or all-night house. She knew nothing but slang, but eventually de-veloped into something better, and at last became recognized and secured a home. Her acting of the character was very good, displaying cated a successful career on the stage in the uture. Some years ago she was here in th Fifth [Avenue combination, and played the child parts in several of the excellent plays child parts in several of the excellent plays presented by that fine company. The support rendered by the Macauley company may be put down as fair. Mr. Reed as "Keppler," Mr. Beers as "Skinny Smith," the miserly landlord, and Miss Annie Douglass in the double role of "Nancy Bartlett" and "Mrs. M'Glone," were above the average and were deservedly the recipients of applianse. The play is full of racy humor, good situations, and should draw well during the work. It will be repeated to night, to mor-week. It will be repeated to-night, to-mor-row night and at a Christmas matinee on Chursday next.

Rev. Sylvanus Cobb thus writes in the Boston Christian Freeman: "We would by no means recommend any kind of medicine which we did not know to be good—particularly for infants. But of Mrs. Winslow's soothing syrup we can speak from knowledge; in our own family it has proved a blessing in-deed, by giving an infant troubled with color deed, by giving an infant troubled with colic pains, quiet sleep, and its parents unbroken rest at night. Most parents can appreciate these blessings. Here is an article which works to perfection, and which is harmless; for the sleep which it affords the infant is perfectly natural, and the little cherub awakes as 'bright as a button.' And during the process of teething its value is incalculable. We have frequently heard mothers say they would not be without it from the birth of the child till it had finished with the teething siege on any consideration whatever.'
